COURT AGAIN EXCUSES JURY

FIRST TRIAL OF APRIL TERM TO BE HELD TOMORROW.

LIQUOR CASES KILLED

Charges Against Frank Dewyre and Edward Schweikhardt Dismissed.—Mrs. Nina B. Robb Gets Divorce

Circuit court was adjourned to 9 o'clock tomorrow morning by Judge John M. Dawson today when a brief session was held and the jury excused for the day.

It was the fifth day of the April term that the jury was present and no cases were ready to be tried. Three orders were made on the docket when the prosecuting attorney dismissed the liquor charges against Frank Dewyre and Edward Schweikhardt and continued the cases against the owners of Maryville pool tables, charging operation without a license.

The jury was instructed to be on hand tomorrow morning to try the case of Lawson McIntyre against the Livestock Shipping Association of Burlington Junction for money had and received.

Mr. McIntyre, a farmer living near Burlington Junction filed a petition here December 11 last, for $1,297.57, alleging that this amount was due him from the Association for hogs it sold for him May 17, 1926.

Saturday in circuit court Mrs. Nina B. Robb was granted a divorce from David W. Robb, who is connected with the Bank of Pickering at Pickering. Mrs. Robb's maiden name of Nina Lucile Bent was restored by the court.

Her petition stated that they were married June 19, 1925, and lived together until February 22, 1926. It alleged that Mr. Robb disregarded the duties of a husband and absented himself from the plaintiff without reasonable cause for over a year.

Several judgments were awarded when defendants defaulted and jury was waived.

Milton Engle as administrator of the estate of Jesse Engle and Sons was given judgment on three counts against Orba Neely on notes, besides attorney fees. The amounts were $853.10, $1106.40 and $651.40 with attorney fees of $261.09.

Judgment was awarded the Farmers Trust Company against Chester A. Carter and others for $1,386.45 on a note, and attorney fees of $148.64.

The defaulted judgment given A. L. Stithen, and others against Harvey Grimes, of $163 and $25 attorney fees, on a note, was set aside.

The Northwestern Bank of Burlington Junction was given judgment of $146.28 and $14.62 counsel fees against Albert A. Nicholas and others on a note.

O. B. Hudson was awarded judgment against Ellis J. and C. A. Lyle of $1107.12 on a note and $110.72 for counsel fees.

Cyclone Kills Three, Injures 30 in Okla.

Second Cyclone In Week In Same Area —Wister, Okla., Reports Ten Feet Of Water.

Fort Smith, Ark., April 18.—Three persons were killed and two injured by a cyclone which struck Bokoshe, Okla., thirty miles southwest of here, last night, according to reports from that community today.

It was the second cyclone within a week suffered by the Bokoshe area. Last Tuesday, a twister swept over McCurtain, Okla., near there, and into Fort Smith, killing three and injuring several.

In addition to the wind damage, Wister, Okla., in the same county, reported ten feet of water in some of its streets.

The reconciliation is complete, advices said.

The message today followed several weeks of travel for Dodge which started in Paris by boat, brought him from New York to San Francisco by airplane and mail and thence to Honolulu where Mrs. Dodge was taken by boat.

Delegates are expected from all camps in the county, as follows: Hopkins, Parnell, Elmo, Burlington Junction, Quitman, Skidmore, Barnard and Maryville.

A basket dinner will be served at noon at I. O. O. F. Hall. The program will be announced later.

ENTRY LISTS MOUNT FAST

COLLEGE GETS BLANKS FROM 35 OR 40 SCHOOLS.

HARMONY ENTERS ALL

Every Student to Come From Rural High School.—Rooms Being Assigned.

Entries from between thirty-five and forty high schools of Northwest Missouri have been received for the district contests which will be sponsored by the State Teachers College the last three days of this month. The morning's mail today brought a deluge of communications and the names of several hundred more high school students who will take part in the sixty odd contests which are on the three-day program.

The feature entries so far, according to William L. Mapel, manager of the contest, are those of Harmony High School, near Ravenwood, which is bringing everyone of its students to the contests. Twenty-one are entered in the orchestra contest, twenty-four in the chorus, two in boys' track, and six in girls' track. In addition, there are entrants in short story, algebra, clothing, and poster.

Some of the entries are humorous. One high school teacher, a former student at the College, sent the fees for the contests, but neglected to give the names of his entrants. His terse communication was as follows:

"Dear Bill: Inclosed find my fees. I think they are too high, but I guess you don't care. Coming over strong. Your old friend."

The housing committee is working today assigning rooms for the contestants. It is a slow process, but by noon today some 200 students were placed.

The work of checking the entries continues to be difficult. More than an hour was required this morning to check the entries and fees of one school. It was then found that the principal lacked almost twenty dollars of sending enough money.

The entries do not have to be in the mails until today, so tomorrow and Wednesday should bring many more letters.

Benton High School of St. Joseph is sending no contestants to Maryville, but is sending entries in the poster and school annual contests.

Cameron Yeary, who is employed in Kansas City, spent Easter with his mother, Mrs. P. C. Yeary, and his sister, Virginia, 420 West Twelfth street. He returned to Kansas City this morning.

WILL OBSERVE HEALTH WEEK

ELIMINATION OF DEFECTS IN CHILDREN TO BE SOUGHT.

SET TO BEGIN MAY 1

Chairmen Will Be Named in Various Communities of County to Enumerate Each Child.

A campaign to correct any physical defect in children between the ages of 4 and 6 years, so that they will be in normal condition and ready to take up school work when 6 years of age, will be held the first week in May, in the form of a Health Week, it was announced today by Dr. C. P. Fryer, county health officer.

Dr. Fryer made the announcement as chairman of the county committee, saying that May Day, will be observed as child Health Day throughout the entire state, and will be continued in this county for the entire week.

The county health department hopes to make a success of the week by enumerating each child in the county between these ages, through committees to be named in each community of the county. Dr. Fryer said the names of the chairmen of these committees will be announced early this week.

The health department will work in co-operation with the state board of health (Dr. Fryer representing this board in Nodaway County), the Missouri Federation of Women's Clubs, Parent-Teachers' Association, County Medical Society, Red Cross, Missouri Public Health Association and the county department of the department of education.

The committees in each community will secure the enumeration of all preschool age children and they will be examined at one or more clinics in each community, depending upon the number of children. The examinations will be made by the health department, with the co-operation of county physicians and dentists.

Defects in any of the children will be reported to the parents, who it is hoped, will take measures to correct the physicial defects of the child.

The idea back of this movement is to get all children in the best possible physical condition by the time they enter school, so they will not be forced to lose out in school work when defects show up.

Dr. Fryer said the campaign will be based on the development of what is known as the "six-point" child.

All children who are already in school should strive to be "six point" children, the state health department says—one who has normal vision or correctly fitted glasses, normal hearing, no evidence of throat trouble, teeth in good condition, good posture and not 10 per cent or more underweight or 20 per cent or more overweight.

The reasons for the "six point" child have been listed by the state department in the following manner:

"A careful analysis of the records of the physical examination of 60,000 children in Missouri last year showed that eighty-five per cent of the defects listed were under the headings of malnutrition, defective vision, impaired hearing, enlarged tonsils, adenoids and decayed teeth. These defects, if not corrected may seriously hamper the child's health during school life, and may produce a very harmful effect in later life. An ounce of preventive is worth a pound of cure, and in discovering these defects and having them corrected before they become serious, we are safeguarding the health of our future citizens. It is hoped that this very meagre physical inspection may lead to a complete physical examination of both children and adults, by the family physician at least once each year. This periodic physical examination is a most important factor in the prevention of disease and the prolongation of life."

108 PERSONS FIND SHELTER IN CITY JAIL

Police Give Free Lodging to That Many Transients During Winter Months.

The city jail this winter has been a sort of "free hotel," to the traveling public that lands in Maryville without funds to procure a bed.

Since September 15, 1926, the city officers have "bedded down" 108 transients picked up on the streets, according to the checkup today. Just last night two were given "lodging" in the city holdover.

SUN HELPS IN GLAD EASTER

MARYVILLE BASKS IN MUCH APPRECIATED RAYS.

CROWDS TO CHURCHES

For Catholics, the Lenten Season Is Ended.—Children's Carnival At St. Mary's.

Rising clear and bright the sun shone steadily and beneficiently all day, until it sank in a rosy glow in the west.

And how Maryville did appreciate the sunshine—after two weeks or more of almost continuous clouds and rain. How town and country did emerge from winter shells to take advantage of it.

En masse, Maryville went to church. All denominations reported good attendance at all services.

Thirty young people attended the sunrise prayer service and Easter breakfast at the M. E. Church, South. This church also reported large congregations at the morning and evening preaching services, as did the First Methodist, First Christian, First Baptist and First Presbyterian.

The First Baptist Church at its evening hour held a combined service of sermon and song. The first part of the hour was given to the singing of the Easter cantata, "The Crucified," with a choir of twenty voices, assisted by three soloists, Miss Zona Robinson, Mrs. F. G. Tebow and Graham Malotte.

There was large attendance at the special program given by the Bible school of the First Christian Church, also at the evening hour.

The 8 and 10:30 o'clock Masses at both St. Patrick's and St. Mary's were largely attended, despite bad road conditions that made it difficult for many country parishioners to get to Maryville.

For Catholics, the Easter services ended the Lenten season and had perhaps greater significance than in some of the other churches.

At St. Mary's, the children of the parish will hold a children's carnival, similar to the one last year. The arrangements are made by the young people themselves and are kept a deep, dark secret from the older members.

The Rev. Father Mark, Passionist father from Cincinnati, who assisted the Rev. Henry F. Niemann at St. Patrick's, left yesterday for St. Joseph.

After attending church, many Maryville residents took to the road, though they were largely restricted to the paved arteries and better graded highways.

There was the usual parade of new Easter toggery, with gay colors seen everywhere.

Cleaners, florists and the telegraph company all reported good business.

SCHOOL CASES GIVEN HEARING

DECISION DEFERRED IN WHITE HALL-HARMON DISPUTE.

LINE THROUGH HOUSE

Tenant on Farm Uncertain in Which District He Lives.—Skidmore-Graham Case Up Later Today.

A commission of four men, appointed by Leslie G. Somerville, county superintendent of schools, today heard arguments for and against the transfer of eighty acres of the White Hall School, district No. 175, to Harmon School, district No. 176, south of Barnard. Their decision will be final.

The case came up when the Harmon school district voted to take in the eighty acres of land, while the White Hall district voted against it. According to the law, decision in such a case reverts to a commission of four disinterested taxpayers appointed by the county superintendent of schools.

The commission was composed of Roy Lippman, Ernest Wray, A. S. Watson and Walter Mutz.

The commission was withholding its decision this afternoon until it was informed by the school districts as to what effect the proposed transfer would have upon the school enumeration of the White Hall district. The statute provides that where a case is in contest, there must be at least twenty persons of school age in both districts.

School directors, who attended the meeting, were to send in the total enumeration of their districts to the commission. It was doubtful whether White Hall would have the necessary twenty should the transfer of land be made, as five of school age would be affected.

The same commission was sitting this afternoon to consider the transfer of 1,680 acres from Skidmore district No. 132 to Graham district No. 132. Skidmore has voted for the change and Graham against.

The Harmon-White Hall case involved peculiar circumstances, in which the line dividing the two districts cut through a farm house and the tenant, Ernest Nelson, was in doubt in which district he lived and where to send his children.

The land is owned by Robert W. Bridges, of Barnard. It was contended by Mr. Nelson that he desired to send his children to the Harmon school because of the better road. The farm is nearly two miles south of Graham. He lives nearly equal distance from each school house, perhaps slightly nearer the Harmon school.

The Skidmore Consolidated School district voted out some 1,600 acres of land, including the old Liberty district, to be transferred to the Graham district, so that a favorable vote could be secured at a future election to vote bonds for a new school building at Skidmore, according to testimony given before a commission of four Maryville men, hearing the Skidmore-Graham school case in the county court room this afternoon.

The sentiment seemed to be in Skidmore that the voters in the district lying south of Skidmore defeated a bond proposal five times. Representatives from Graham, Liberty district and Skidmore were present to give their views.

Owners of land in Liberty favored a school at Skidmore, some thinking an eighth grade school sufficient, some thinking the bond issues always too high, others favoring a bond, it was said. Partially of voters in this district was favorably toward Graham, yet the commission was told when it came to a final showdown these voters signed a remonstrance against voting their district into the Graham district.

Incidentally, it was revealed at the hearing, that even though Graham has a building capable of passing inspection for an accredited high school, Graham intends to put to a vote the proposal to issue bonds for a new building in a year or two. Skidmore lacks a commendable building, the testimony showed.

At the recent election Graham voted against the acquiring of the land that Skidmore voted out of its district. Both are consolidated school districts.

Foreigners Prepare for Chinese Violence

Legations at Peking Fear Anti-Foreign Attacks—Panic Among American Subsides.

Peking, April 18.—Foreign legations are taking special defense precautions against possible anti-foreign violence. The panic noticeable a week ago among the American colony here largely has subsided, but concrete evidence of the fear of foreign officials that trouble might come was visible in the legation quarters.

United States marines, permanently attached as guards to the American legation, have prepared a barbed wire fence across the top of the city wall, which forms the south boundary of the legation quarters, and emplacements have been prepared which would be suitable for gun mounts on top of the wall.

The British legation has stationed an armed sentry in an elevated position whence he can look over the boundary wall between the legation and the Russian soviet embassy.

SLOW TO PICK SNYDER JURY

NEW YORKERS RELUCTANT TO SIT IN JUDGMENT ON WOMAN.

DEATH MAY BE ASKED

Murder of Art Editor Described as "Most Cold-Blooded Ever Uncovered."

Courtroom, Long Island City, April 18.—Opposition to capital punishment and a reluctance to take the responsibility for sitting in judgment upon a woman, when the death penalty may be involved, made slow work today of jury selection in the Ruth Snyder-Henry Gray murder trial.

When court adjourned at lunch, twenty-two prospective jurors had been examined, without one being accepted.

Long Island City, N. Y., April 18.—Ruth Brown Snyder found her husband a bore at the same time Henry Judd Gray was seeking extra-martial companionship. The sequel to their love led them today to the Supreme Court of Queens County to answer the charge that in the early morning hours of March 20 they did wilfully murder Albert Snyder.

"Most Cold-Blooded."

The death of Snyder, 45-year-old art editor of "Motor Boating," has been described by District Attorney Richard S. Newcombe as the result of the "most cold-blooded, brutal plot ever uncovered." In truth, much of the pretrial interest in the cast has attached to what possible defense might be entered by the accused

Those who knew Albert Snyder found him attractive. He was quiet, well-mannered and hard working. He enjoyed puttering around a motor boat and had some mechanical skill. He disliked going out at night.

His wife, on the other hand, liked excitement. "Tommy" Snyder, as she was known by her gay friends, went to card parties, occasionally drank liquor and had many men friends. When her daughter, Lorraine, reached the age of nine it was not as necessary to stay at home as in the first years marriage.

Meetings Clandestine.

"Tommy" Snyder met Henry Judd Gray more than two years ago. They began to meet clandestinely.

Gray, married and the father of a child, is not the Don Juan type. He is short and pleasant-faced. His intimate friends have said they could not comprehend his having participation in the crime attributed to him. It seemed ridiculously incongruous that the "Bud" Gray who made a comfortable living selling brassieres and corsets to retail dry goods stores in New York State cities could have become a murderer.

SUFFERING IN FLOOD'S WAKE

HUNDREDS OF RELIEF WORKERS BUSY ALONG MISSISSIPPI.

DEATH LIST NOW NINE

Many Other Persons Reported Missing. —High Water Sweeps On Toward Delta Country.

By UNITED PRESS.

Fertile fields bordering on the Mississippi river today are inundated; 22,000 persons are refugees; rail traffic in many places is paralyzed; hundreds of militiamen and volunteers are doing levee duty as the broad river swollen to flood stage—sweeps toward the delta country.

Considerable suffering accompanies the flood tide. At Peach Orchard Bluff, two miles from McClellan, Ark., 300 persons are described as being huddled together on a high knoll, without food and with very scanty attire, as the swirling waters overflow their farms and homes.

A similar situation is reported at Hughes, Ark., and in various parts of southeastern Missouri, Southern Illinois and Tennessee.

Cairo Is Refugee Port.

Cario, Ill., is the principal port for the refugees. Beginning late Saturday, after the levees of the Mississippi had broken in four places—there was a steady trek to Cairo, which is virtually surrounded by water.

Despite the swollen Mississippi, the Ohio and a smaller river, Cairo is believed safe, owing to high protective walls on all sides of the city.

In many parts of Arkansas, where the flood situation is said to be the worst, tents have been erected for refuges. National guard regiments and the regular army have furnished tents and requests for more have been sent to the War Department.

The same situation is true in parts of Kentucky and requests for aid have gone out from Mississippi.

Driven From Homes Hurriedly.

Most of the refugees were forced to leave their homes hurriedly. Huge levees, thrown up as protection against the Mississippi, suddenly gave way, and the foamy, clay colored water swept over the rich farm land, carrying away farm implements, killing many head of livestock and doing tremendous damage to farm houses and buildings.

Thus far the death toll stands at nine, but many persons are reported missing, especially in Arkansas, where families were separated by hasty departure from flood stricken homes.

No estimate of the damage had been made today, although officials say it will be in the millions.

Relief Work Is Rushed.

Memphis, April 18.—With eleven persons drowned, a dozen more small levees in Arkansas washed out over the week-end, inundating many towns and thousands of acres of land, relief work was being rushed today for 25,000 flood sufferers in four states.

Government, state, Red Cross and volunteer workers joined hands in caring for the thousands of homeless victims and rescuing many others from house tops, trees, hill sides and other spots where they have sought refuge from the rushing waters.

No Court Today; Wet Grounds.

Forsythe, Mo., April 18.—The April term of the Taney county circuit court was postponed until June 6 by Judge Fred Stewart today on account of high water.

The courthouse is completely surrounded by water and it would be a great inconvenience to hold court at present, Judge Stewart said.

J. B. Robinson, sr., went to Excelsior Springs this morning to spend a few days.

F. S. King left last night on a business trip to Ottumwa, Ia., He will return home Wednesday evening.

Peter Cornell of Burlington Junction spent the week end with his sons, Ray Cornell and J. W. Cornell, and family.

Weather

Resurrection Critics Answered by Dewar

Christ's Leaving of Tomb Is Declared Credible by Presbyterian Minister.

Those critics of religion and Christianity who profess to disbelieve in the resurrection of Christ were answered yesterday in the Easter morning sermon of the Rev. W. N. Dewar, minister of the First Presbyterian Church, speaking on the subject, "Is the Resurrection Credible?"

"If the resurrection is not credible and true, then the whole fabric of the teaching about Jesus is false," the Reverend Mr. Dewar declares. "If this miracle is a myth, his whole life is a myth—for no one can honestly study the record of the life of Jesus and fail to see that the very life of Jesus is a miracle and the most astonishing miracle the world has ever known."

Mr. Dewar took for his text the question of Paul in Acts 26:8, "Why should it be thought a thing incredible with you that God should raise the dead?" He praised Paul's tactics in turning the tables on his questioners, the minister asserting that "it is easy to make a denial, to scoff, to ridicule, to critigize and tear down. But it is not so easy to build a constructive argument to prove one's unbelief."

Answering an objection that the resurrection is contrary to anything known to science, the Reverend Mr. Dewar held that this was not so much a denial of the fact as a defect in science.

"Science," he said, "knows a great deal, but that is very little in comparison with what there is yet to be known."

Taking the glandular theory of life as an example, he pointed out:

"But we have had explanations like that before and have seen them die away gradually before the lack of explanation needful to reveal what the mysterious something is that is behind the action of the glands. The spiritual life eludes the most searching analysis of man."

Answering another objection—that it is incredible to the reason and contrary to experience—the minister denied that either is true.

"The strange thing about us," he asserted, "is that in spite of our reason and our experiences, we live by faith, not perhaps in the son of God who loved us and gave himself for us and whom God raised from the dead, but faith in the order of the universe, about which we know little and can demonstrate less."

He cited the proofs given the disciples and the experience of Thomas, the doubter, followed by Christ's injunction: "Because thou hast seen me, thou hast believed; blessed are they that have not seen, and yet have believed."

Druggists Defy South Carolina "Blue Laws"

Sodas, Cigars And Cigarettes Are Sold Openly In Columbia On Easter Sunday.

Columbia, S. C., April 18.—This capital city of South Carolina was recovered today from an onslaught of "blue laws" oppositionists which brought the enforcement fight into the heart of the state.

For the first time since the "blue laws" enforcement campaign was started two months ago by Governor Richards, sodas, cigars and cigarettes were openly sold by drug stores in this city yesterday—Easter Sunday.

During church hours, however, drug stores remained closed.

Local courts recently had failed to find drug stores guilty of violation of the law following their arrest for selling cigarettes and soft drinks on Sunday.

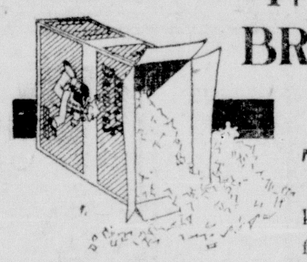
Different From Other BRAN FLAKES



THERE are lots of people who know that bran flakes, eaten regularly, keep the system tuned to a comfortable, gratifying healthfulness. They know this, but they won't eat bran flakes because they don't like bran flakes.

For these people, especially, Bran Dandies is made. Bran flakes, to be sure, but with a flavor—a crispness—a genuine deliciousness that never before has been associated with bran flakes. You'll like Bran Dandies—they're good!

Unable to Rescue 124 in Storm Tossed Sea

Sydney, Australia, April 18.—One hundred and twenty-four passengers, including many women and children, spent a night of terror aboard the steamer Riverlina after it went ashore in a heavy gale last night on Gabo Island, off the southern coast of new South Wales.

Although other ships were reported standing by, the sea was so rough they were unable to make any attempt to rescue the passengers.

Detroit, April 18.—Opening of the sixth week of Aaron Sapiro's million dollar libel suit against Henry Ford was postponed until tomorrow because of a "slight attack of acute indigestion" suffered by Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, chief cross examiner of the Ford defense.

"Don't send reports across the country that I'm sick," the senator hoarsely asked the United Press over the telephone, which he personally answered. "This is nothing serious and will be over in three or four hours. I'm sure I will be able to get into court tomorrow."

ANOTHER H. S. PEDAGOGUE TO FOOTLIGHTS

Mrs. Virgil Rathbun to Follow in Footsteps of Miss Hawkins, Is New Rumor.

Following an announcement Saturday that Miss Laura B. Hawkins, widely known teacher here, was about to "go on the stage," it became known today that she would be followed by another member of the Maryville High School faculty, Mrs. Virgil Rathbun, wife of a young Maryville attorney.

At an assembly at the High School this morning, Miss Hawkins assured her students that she had no intention of leaving, but she admitted that she was considering a stage career also. "Of course I am going on the stage. The rumors for once were correct. I think I shall appear in Maryville first," she said. She would not consent to a further interview.

Mrs Rathbun also admitted she was to go before the footlights, but was equally reticent regarding the details of her plans. Asked regarding the contract purported to have been offered her, she said, "I can't be bothered by money. It's my dramatic talent that interests me."

The announcement that two members of the faculty are about to embark in the same profession is cause of great alarm and a decided air of mystery among the students and other friends.

A reporter tried to get hold of the various members of the Board of Education to ascertain their views on the matter, but they seemed to be "hiding out" until tomorrow.

SMITH GIVES CHURCH VIEWS

NO CONFLICT WITH OFFICIAL DUTIES, SAYS GOVERNOR.

ANSWERS QUESTIONER

No Power Counter to Constitution, He Declares.—Advocates "Absolute Equality."

New York, April 18.—Gov. Alfred E. Smith, of New York in an historic document appearing in the May issue of the Atlantic Monthly, declares that he recognizes no power in the institution of the Catholic Church to interfere with the constitution of the United States or the enforcement of the law of the land.

"I believe," Smith says, "in rendering unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's; and unto God the things that are God's. I would be a poor American and a poor Catholic alike if I injected religious discussions into a political campaign."

The Governor's letter marks the first time in American history that a potential candidate for the presidency has been subjected to public questioning regarding his faith. For the first time it brings his religious beliefs and affiliations up from the realm of whisperings and inuendoes on to the higher plane of serious debate.

The letter is a reply to Charles C. Marshall, a New York attorney in a previous issue of the Atlantic Monthly, demanding to know how he could give undivided allegiance to his country and his church.

Never Any Conflict.

"I have taken the oath of office in this state 19 times," the Governor says, "and I have never known any conflict between my official duties and my religious beliefs."

After answering the attorney's questions in detail, Governor Smith gives the following summary of his religious views:

"I summarize my creed as an American Catholic. I believe in the worship of God according to the faith and practice of the Roman Catholic Church.

"I recognize no power in the institutions of my church to interfere with the operations of the Constitution of the United States or the enforcement of the law of this land.

"I believe in absolute freedom of conscience for all men and in equality of all churches, all sects, and all beliefs before the law as a matter of right and not as a matter of favor.

"I believe in the absolute separation of church and state and in the strict enforcement of the provisions of the Constitution that Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof.

"I believe that no tribunal of any church has any power to make any decree of any force in the land, other than to establish the status of its own communicants within its own church.

Believes in Public School.

"I believe in the support of the public school as one of the corner stones of American liberty.

"I believe in the right of every parent to choose whether his child shall be educated in the public school or in a religious school supported by those of his own faith.

"I believe in the principle of non-interference by this country in the internal affairs of other nations and that we should stand steadfastly against any such interference by whomsoever it may be urged.

"And I believe in the common brotherhood of God.

"In this spirit I join with fellow Americans of all creeds in a fervent prayer that never again in this land will any public servant be challenged because of the faith in which he has tried to walk humbly with his God.

"Very truly yours,

"ALFRED E. SMITH."

Sees Three Meanings in the Resurrection

Promise of Future Life, Complete Atonement and Glory of Love Told by Rev. Woodhull.

Three great meanings of the empty grave in the Resurrection Garden were pointed out yesterday in an Easter sermon by the Rev. W. S. Woodhull, pastor of the First Methodist Church. His topic was "Easter Meanings," and in his audience were the members of Maryville Commandery No. 40, Knights Templar, who attended the Sunday morning services in a body.

Declaring that there were at least the three great meanings in the Resurrection, the Reverend Mr. Woodhull said:

"It makes the future life sure and bright. Before, it was to Pagan and Jew a place of shadows and to be feared. It lay in the background of the Hebrew thought. Jesus brought it to the foreground by his rising from the dead. Forever He changed death from an event to an incident, from a period to a comma.

"The Resurrection changed the disciples from hopeless, hiding men to fearless proclaimers of the Gospel message. It became the motive power of the Kingdom. It adds a new quality to life. We discover new values to be sought when we realize we are citizens of eternity.

"The second meaning of the empty grave completes the atonement. The cross by itself can only mean defeat. On it sin triumphantly kills a man of goodness and love, God's son. But the Resurrection is the triumph over the worst sin could do. The cross looks backward in repentance and in forgiveness for sin that is past. The empty grave looks forward to a victorious life. Paul says we are crucified, dead, buried with Him. All this looks backward. But also he says, "We are raised with Him to walk in newness of life." Paul finds the victorious life in the Risen Savior.

"The third meaning is the foolishness and glory of love. For love's sake, the women came to the tomb in spite of very real danger. They brought extra spices for the embalming, although Joseph and Nicodemus had already wrapped the body in more than a hundredweight. They made no provision for the rolling away of the stone at the door of the tomb. In all this they were foolish. But love is always running into needless danger, doing more than is necessary, attempting the impossible. And by this very foolishness, love found, and is still finding, the glory of the resurrection."

400 Students See Movies of Y Tour

Four hundred high school and grade students attended a six reel movie party given this afternoon at the Missouri Theatre. Three reels pictured the tour of Y. M. C. A. boys over Europe last year, a trip similar to one Walter Allen has been elected to take for this year. One reel dealt with the activities of Boy Scouts and another with the work of boys in camp in Poland. The last reel was on "Hollow Brick Tile."

The "Moonlight Serenaders," an orchestra directed by Bob Bennett, played for three reels and Miss Margaret Brown played popular music at the piano for the remainder of the pictures.

DAUGHTERS of MIDAS

THIS HAS HAPPENED

CLAY CURTIS voluntarily disinherits himself and gives up a life of ease and luxury to follow the example of his father, T. Q. CURTIS, a self-made man whom he admires tremendously. Clay has been an ardent student of music all his life and his ambition is to become a great composer. When he leaves home, he takes with him only hand luggage and music.

Clay finds a room in the poorer section of town, in the home of a MRS. WELLS. She has a daughter, BILLY, who is head of the glove department in the mammoth department store owned by Clay's father. Billy is also a violinist of unusual ability. Clay is instantaneously attracted to her, though Billy's first reaction to his presence in her home is one of amazement that the son of her employer should wish to live in such humble surroundings.

Before Clay leaves his room the next morning, Billy hears a shattering of glass. When he departs, she hurries to see what has been broken. There she finds a splintered frame and a picture torn in three parts. Fitting the parts together, she beholds a lovely woman—the actress who has thrown Clay over. Billy, in a rush of anger she does not understand, casts the fragments on the fire.

When Old T. Q., as Mr. Curtis is known in the store, learns that his son is in the home of one of his employes, he sends for Billy and quizzes her. Billy resents in spirited language Old T. Q.'s insinuation that there is an affair between her and his son. She believes the scene will culminate in her dismissal from the store, but the old man kindly assures her that it has no bearing on her position.

She later learns that a meeting has been called for all the women of the store. Billy is sorely disappointed at this announcement. She is aquiver with eagerness to get home to her violin, for she has promised Clay she would play one of his songs with him that night.

In the store auditorium, Old T. Q. tells the girls he wants them to answer a questionnaire headed: "Why I Work in the Curtis Store." He names a list of prizes for the best answer. Many of the girls scorn the questionnaire, but Billy and three of her friends, Nyda Lomax, Winnie Shelton, and Leila Sampson, resolved to answer the questions. When Billy gets home and shows the questionnaire to Clay, Clay strangely recalls words he had spoken to his father just before he left: "You ought to have a daughter, Dad." Billy, too, wonders what Old T. Q. is up to.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER 7

"You say that only women employes were given this questionnaire?" Clay asked Billy when, with Mrs. Wells, they were seated at the cleared dinner table.

"That's the ticket," Billy chuckled. "The men are being pacified by some other stunt, which T. Q. neglected to mention. All set now? Let's go—'Name'—do I have to put Thelma, mother?"

"That's your baptismal name, honey," Mrs. Wells rocked placidly, her eyes beaming with pride upon the chestnut head bent over the unaccustomed labor of composition.

"Billy Wells," Billy wrote in her large, vigorous backhand. "'How long have you been employed in the Curtis Store?'"

"Too long," Clay Curtis answered for her. "You ought to be spending six hours a day with your violin, instead of eight hours selling gloves to women who think they're better than you because you wait on them."

A shadow passed over Billy's bright, impudent little face, but before she could speak her mother interrupted with unusual spirit: "Now, Clay, don't you go putting ideas in Billy's head. Heaven knows I'd have kept on working myself if the doctors hadn't forbid it. I worked till Billy was fifteen," she explained in a hurt voice.

"I'd rather never touch a violin again than have you kill yourself in a store," Billy told her with such passionate sincerity that Clay looked at her with new respect in his soft black eyes. "But just for fun, I'm going to put your answer down, Clay: 'Too long.'"

"Oh, Billy child!" Mrs. Wells cried out in real distress. "He'll fire you sure, and I don't know what will become of us—"

"Oh, all right," Billy conceded, erasing the lightly pencilled line and writing, in ink, 'Two years and three months.'"

"I tell you, Billy, you've got to make it original if you expect to catch Dad's eye. If I know the old boy—and I think I do—Miss Simmons and Mr. Hoskins will have precious little to say about the judging. Make it snappy, let the chips fall where they will, and I'll bet you snare a prize."

"Say," Billy accused him impudently, "I believe you want to get me in Dutch with T. Q. But maybe you're right." She bent her head over her work again and did not see the flush of guilt that dyed T. Q.'s son's face. "'Let's get ahead—'Do you like your work?' Now, since every other girl that answers that question will say 'yes,' I've got to be different. And I honestly don't like it. I loathe it. Smiling till my face aches, taking snubs from nine till five-thirty, forcing fat old hands into gloves too small for 'em because the vain old idiots won't acknowledge they aren't Cinderella—"

"Cinderella had small feet," Mrs. Wells corrected amiably.

"Granted then, that I really don't like my work, what am I to say?" Billy laughed and sucked at the end of her pencil.

Say, 'I could think of happier ways to employ my time,'" Clay responded promptly.

Billy wrote obediently, her face lit with wicked enjoyment. "I've added, 'But ladies must live!'" Her mother groaned aloud.

"Wait! That trespasses on the next question," Clay reminded her. "'Do you work because you have to earn a living or for the sake of a career?' Gee! That calls their bluff, doesn't it?"

"I can't answer that flippantly," Billy discovered, frowning slightly. "I'm going to tell the truth," and she wrote, firmly, "Both, but the career is very remote from the Curtis Store. As for the present, it's 'the better 'ole,' and I'm glad to have the job."

"There, mother, rock in peace! Your Sassy Susie has saved the old homestead. And my answer, by the way, neatly paves the way for the next question—'What is the chief ambition of your life?' That's easy—'To be the greatest woman concert violinist in America.'"

"Cross out 'woman,'" Clay ordered her. "I won't adapt another song for your beastly little fiddle if you're planning to let any man beat you at your game."

"Done!" Billy looked up with shining eyes. "Thank you, Clay. Now, for the next—oh, say, this is a hot one!—'If you were general manager of the Curtis Store for one day, with absolute authority, what is the first improvement you would make?'

"No, don't say a word!" She waved the ink-laden pen at him as he started to speak. "Nothing you could say could change me; this matter lies too near my heart!"

"Now, what are you up to?" Mrs. Wells demanded, hitching her rocker close to the table.

"I'm sure you will agree with me," Billy laughed, reading aloud, "'Fire every girl that called a customer 'dearie.'"

Mrs. Wells laughed, then shook her head despairingly. "You'll lose your job, honey. You're having a bad influence over her, Clay."

"Who made pop-overs for his breakfast?" Billy jeered. "Who cleaned and pressed his tweed suit? Who—?"

"Shut up, or I'll spank you and send you to bed!" her mother commanded. "I don't do half as much for him as I do for you, washing your collars and cuffs and your silk underwear and your stockings—"

"All right, all right!" Billy conceded hastily. "Let's get on with this priceless prying into my private passions. Passions," she explained to Clay, "was the only word I could think of beginning with P, and I couldn't bear to spoil the alliteration. I pause for applause. Well, all right, if you haven't a sense of humor—maybe this will get a laugh: 'What additional service, both for your good and the good of the store, would you suggest that the Curtis Store inaugurate?'"

"A five-hour day and a five-day week," Clay supplied promptly.

"No, I've already thought of something better than that." Billy began to write rapidly. "'Free, twice-a-month beauty parlor service, for shampoos, haircuts, manicures, marcels or finger waves, with two permanent waves a year thrown in—for the sake of the straight-haired girls. The high cost of beauty and bobbing is driving me mad.' Now, that's what I call a sensible suggestion," she applauded herself. "Think how much more attractive the store would look if every girl could be as well groomed as to hair and nails as a society girl. Thank heaven, I have naturally curly hair, but trims alone cost me a dollar and a half a month, and my Sundays are absolutely ruined by having to shampoo my hair and fuss with my nails."

"That will get a laugh from Dad all right," Clay chuckled. "He hates bobbed hair—had a store rule against it until he had to give in. But I bet it will be unique, that suggestion, and that's the main idea. 'What's next?'"

"'What is your present salary?'" Billy read. "Shall I put, 'A joke?'"

"Oh, Billy!" Mrs. Wells moaned, stretching out a hand to stay the rash pen in her daughter's hand. "Please, honey!"

"I'll be good, mother!" Billy promised. "Here's the bitter truth—twenty-two bucks. You don't mind if I underline the figures with my pen dipped in vitriol, do you, darling?"

"Twenty-two dollars a week!" Clay cried, aghast. "For two people to live on! How on earth do you do it?"

"The Curtis Store doesn't pay me for supporting my mother," Billy pointed out. "It pays me for selling gloves, and, if you ask me, I'm probably the champion glove seller in Colfax."

"Then your answer to the next question ought to be a pipe," Clay pointed out.

"Umm! 'Do you consider that you are underpaid for your services?' What a poser that'll be for Winnie and Nyda and Leila and the rest. I'd give my new spring hat to know what they're writing. Winnie's getting their school teacher boarder to help her, and Nyda and Eddie—her sweetie, Eddie Banning, you know, mother—are conspiring together tonight to knock old T. Q. for a goal—first prize, at least. Scratch your head mother," Billy suggested wickedly.

"Goodness me, I don't know what to say. Let me think. Which she did, with much frowning and rocking. "I know, Billy! Say 'I expect to earn each raise before I get it, and I've just begun to open my weekly pay envelope with confidently expectant fingers.' How's that?"

"Darling, you're a born diplomat!" Billy jumped up and flung herself into her mother's lap, causing the rocking chair to perform violently. "If that isn't expert fence-straddling, I'd like to know what is! I wouldn't sell that answer for ten dollars!"

"You'll win the prize," Clay answered soberly, almost gloomily, as if he had some secret reason for not wanting her to. But Billy was in much too high spirits to notice his gloom.

"Now, all I've got to do is to write not more than 300 words on the general subject, 'Why I work for the Curtis Store.'" She reached for the questionnaire and read the last printed line. "Two nice blank pages for my ecstatic thoughts on that burning question. I'm going to my room and court the muse, Clay. Your playing won't bother me a bit; maybe it will inspire me. I promise to join you by ten o'clock to try out that song of yours. It had better be good, after all this press-agenting you've done for it. Say," and she stopped to peer into his troubled face, "why all the gloom? Sulking like a spoilt baby because I won't play with you now?"

"Billy!" He caught her hand, and at that first intentional touch of his the color flamed up in her cheeks. "Billy, please don't turn in that questionnaire! Tear it up! Don't try to win a prize! I—I can't explain, but—but—well, I don't want you to!"

Billy drew her hand away sharply and glared at him out of amazed, outraged blue eyes.

"I wish you wouldn't—for your sake," Clay persisted doggedly, though her anger and suspicion make him look miserable and guilty.

Billy took up the questionnaire, held it uncertainly between her hands as if she were half persuaded to destroy it.

Excitement and suspense buzz through the Curtis store, and Clay Curtis arouses Billy's resentment. Read the next chapter.

"Resurrection Day History's Brightest"

With Way Prepared, Salvation Depends Upon Human Side, Christian Pastor Declares.

"The Resurrection morn ushered in the brightest day in history," the Rev. R. E. Musgrave, pastor of the First Christian Church, declared in his Easter sermon at that church yesterday morning.

Mr. Musgrave's subject was "The Great Salvation," and his text: "For if the word spoken through angels proved steadfast, and every transgression and disobedience received a just recompense, how shall we escape, if we neglect so great a salvation?" Heb. 2:2, 3.

"Everything," said the Rev. Mr. Musgrave, "has been done that can be done, from the standpoint of our heavenly Father, for the salvation of mankind. His last will and testament has been delivered to us. 'There is no other name given under heaven among men whereby we must be saved.' 'How shall we escape' if we fail, from the human side, in the great plan of redemption?

"The resurrection of our Lord sealed all that God had spoken, 'bringing life and immortality to light through the Gospel.' Jesus stands today as our Savior, tomorrow He will sit upon His throne as judge. 'Today is the day of salvation.'

"Some may not—or at least say they do not—believe that Jesus died on the cross for the salvation of man, though the Word says, 'without the shedding of blood there is no remission of sins,' the pastor continued.

"There may be infidels here, but there will be no infidels in heaven. For again we read, 'Every knee shall bow, and every tongue shall confess that Jesus Christ is Lord to the glory of God the Father."

Being a Christian is not a guarantee against hardships and sore trials, the Reverend Mr. Musgrave warned. "He must die as all others, but he has this hope within him: 'He that believest that Jesus is the Christ, though he were dead, yet shall he live'."

There were thirty-two additions to the church during Easter week, the minister announced.

Many Oats Left on Top of the Ground

Some Farmers Sowed Crop, Then Were Caught By Rain, Says John Greeley.—Urges Wheat.

Rainy weather has seriously handicapped farmers of Green township in the sowing of oats, according to Frank Greeley, well known farmer of that vicinity.

"About April 1," Mr. Greeley said, "the weather seemed favorable to put the oats crop in. The ground was in good tilling condition. Some farmers started sowing, not suspecting what Mother Nature had in store, ready to pour out broadcast on top of the stalk fields, intending to disk them in the next few days. Now two weeks have gone by and those oats are still scattered on top of the ground. It has rained intermittently or continuously ever since, keeping the ground too wet for cultivation.

"The weather cannot be implicitly trusted. This is not saying that the real, thorough farmer will ever be caught that bad. Experience ought to teach the tiller of the soil to calculate to more nearly complete the work on hand daily than to be overtaken with that amount of croping unfinished and exposed for almost a total loss from birds and the elements."

The continued rains, however, have affected one crop favorably, Mr. Greeley pointed out.

"Grasses of all kinds," he said, "are growing wonderfully. Stock can go on pasture by the 25th of April, an unusual thing.

"Winter wheat looks fine, but there is very small acreage out this year. Much more wheat should be sown in this section yearly, if for no other reason than to rotate the croping.

"Winter wheat makes a fine mixture for a first class chop feed. Corn one part, oats one part and wheat one part is an ideal chop for use in the 4-H Club work to push the growth of pigs and for fattening hogs. Really it's cheaper to raise the grains and grind one's own chops for use on the farm. Commercial chops are far inferior to the above named mixture and costs the farmer more money."

Resurrection Basis of Christian Creeds

Neither To Be Explained Nor Denied By Scientific Process," Says Rev. Guy L. Prather.

The resurrection of Christ as a basic fact of Christian teaching and of Christian living was stressed by the Rev. Guy L. Prather in his sermon yesterday morning at the First Baptist Church. He preached on the theme, "A Living Savior," with his text from John 11:25.

"After the death and gloom of winter," said the Reverend Mr. Prather, "comes the renewed life and joy of springtime. A myriad voices chirp forth the message that 'life is lord of death' and beauty blooms anew on every hand. This is a fitting time to think again of the resurrection of the Christ, to feed the eternal hopes of our hearts, and to renew the life we have in him.

"That Christ arose is a basic fact of Christian teaching, and of Christian living. It occupies a large place in the Bible story. If death conquered the Christ, then he cannot help us, and death conquers us. Unless he lives, then we cannot hope to live. If he lives not, then our faith is vain, we are hopeless, and yet in our sins. But he arose and therefore a song of hope and victory arises wherever Christ is known.

"His resurrection is not to be explained nor denied by scientific process. It is beyond our experience and understanding, though in harmony with our hopes and with other supernatural teachings. 'Why should it be thought incredible that God should raise the dead?' If God is a living God, then he may raise the dead.

"We have a living Christ, of more marvelous powers than when he walked the earth; of wider activities, not limited by time and space and human weakness; by his spiritual presence abiding with his people everywhere, and stirring their highest hopes and best life.

"He is highly exalted and has a name above every name. He is King of kings and Lord of lords, yet his throne is a throne of grace.

"'Christ liveth in me' says Paul. The widespread and age long transforming Christian experience is the result of the living Christ abiding within."

Pastor Upholds Gospel of the Resurrection

The Rev. R. A. Mitchell Criticises Modernist Thinking, Which Rejects the Resurrection.

"The Gospel of the Resurrection" was the subject of the Easter sermon yesterday morning by the Rev. R. A. Mitchell, pastor of the M. E. Church, South.

"The Gospel of the Resurrection," he explained, "began at Bethlehem stable and was completed in the garden of the emptied tomb. So Christ's victory revitalizes every human soul."

The Reverend Mr. Mitchell, like other Maryville pastors, criticized modernist thinking which rejects the Resurrection.

"The Modernist," he declared, "often treads too heavily in venerable shrines. He may forget that the ground upon which he stands is unutterably holy. He would leave the real and the literal and push forward toward prospects ahead. The balanced and logical thinker will inquire whence came the Christian Church and the New Testament.

"I am not so much interested in the mechanism of the Christian religion," the minister said, "as I am in what the answers are to these questions:

"What can it do for you?

"What can it do for me?

These questions, he said, should be applied to the "real business of life, to statecraft, to industrialism, and to the social order.

Two infants were baptized at the M. E., South, Sunday school and two others were rocked into the cradle roll.

John P. Erickson and daughter, Blanche, drove to St. Joseph Saturday. They were accompanied home by Mabel Ruth Erickson, a student at the Missouri Methodist Hospital, who spent the Easter vacation at home.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, April 18.—The wheat market was a weather affair today with practically all news relating to elemental or flood conditions. The market was strong, with offerings light and fair commission house buying caused prices to advance sharply with most of the gains held. The cash market was unchanged.

Corn was firmer, with some commission house demand and less pressure than for some time. The cash trade was slow.

Oats were stronger and made good gains, the continued unfavorable weather causing some support in the deferred months.

The cash demand was moderate.

Provisions were easier.

H. S. Golf Players in Elimination Tourney

George McMurry To Be One Member Of The Team.—Russell Dietz Winner The Other.

Nine Maryville High School boys were playing an elimination golf tournament at the Maryville Country Club today to determine who would compose the two-man team to represent the High School at the Northwest State District contest here the last three days of next week.

Nine hole match play was played this morning and this afternoon. The winners of the semi finals will compose the team and the losers in the semi-finals will play off a match to determine the third member, or alternate, on the team.

The George McMurry-E. Dietz match in the second round proved the feature of the play, McMurry wining 1 up, with a 49 score.

Ed Russell and Pete Dietz were playing this afternoon and the loser will play E. Dietz later in a play-off match.

McMurray was sure of a place on the team by the way the drawings worked out, winning the semi-final match in his bracket. In the upper bracket the winner of the Dietz-Russell match will be the second member of the team and Ed Dietz will play the winner of this match for the alternate position.

First Round Results.

Edgar Russell beat Stuart Bush, 5 up and 4 to play.

Pete Dietz beat Harry Wilson, 5 up and 4 to play.

George McMurry beat Loren Yeo, 5 up and 4 to play.

Ed Dietz beat Lee Smith, 2 up and 1 to play.

Second Round

Pete Dietz beat Kenneth Swinford, 5 up and 4 to play. Swinford drew a bye in the first round.

McMurry beat Ed Dietz 1 up.

College Track Squad in Need of Pontoons

Coach Lawrance Unable to Pick Team for Kansas Relays—May Go to Sioux Falls Instead.

If the rain will take a resting spell long enough for the State Teachers College track team to work without pontoons on the oval back of the College building, Coach H. Frank Lawrence will be able to make some sort of a prediction concerning his athletes of the cinder path.

Coach Lawrence had planned to take his track team to the Kansas relays this coming week-end, but he has just about abandoned the idea. Instead he may take a relay team to Sioux Falls for the Dakota relays on Saturday.

Mr. Lawrence has three men of a relay team just about chosen. He knows he can bank on John Smith, captain and distance man; Donald Davenport, half miler; and Leon Ungles, quarter miler. This would leave the choice of but one man to compose a medley relay team.

But they don't run the medley at the Dakota relays, so he would probably sift matters and take a mile and a half mile relay team.

Weather permitteing, Coach Lawrence plans to hold try-outs tomorrow afternoon. He figures that he can get a fair insight on his runners in spite of the fact that they will have to splash water rounding the east curve of the college track.

A number of aspirants for places on the team have been working out through the Easter vacation, which began last Thursday and ends tonight.

Guests at Krause Home.

Miss Grace Wright, member of the Tarkio High School faculty, and Raymond T. Andrews, a studentsin the engineering school of the University of Missouri, formerly employed by the state highway commission at Maryville, were week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Krause.

Play to be Repeated.

The Live Wire Sunday School class of the Pickering Christian Church will repeat its play, "Lighthouse Nan," at the church Wednesday night at 8 o'clock. The play is in three acts.

TOMORROW NIGHT

assisted by

ALTA HILL

Glen Ellison, famous for his voice the country over, will appear in a specially selected program.

This appearance of the famous Scotch baritone constitutes the musical event of the season. The assisting artist is Alta Hill, pianist.

What makes this concert of more than usual importance, are several numbers in which Mr. Ellison will compare his voice with its Re-Creation by Mr. Edison's new phonograph.

Tomorrow Evening, Tuesday, April 19 at 8:15 p. m.

First Christian Church

We have arranged that a number of Maryville people may have special complimentary invitations. Call, write or telephone for them. Only a few reservations remain. They will be issued in order of application.
